PREAMBLE

God Creator, Sovereign, Supreme and Almighty, acknowledging and accepting Your grand design and divine purpose for these archipelagic isles and their inhabitants to exist as manifested in their socio political systems based on cultures, traditions, customs, and practices and social human relationships based on tribes, clans and lineages;

We the people and citizens of the Federal Democratic Republic of Solomon Islands:

Confirming the pre existing nation states of our original socio political order;

Convinced that our country’s heterogeneous character makes a federal system of government a more suitable political system;

Experiencing and Suffering from the incompatibility of the unitary system of government for political independence with our heterogeneous character;

Thereby justifying our departure from the Solomon Islands Independence Order 1978;

Recognizing, Acknowledging and Reaffirming our original roots to formulate our homegrown systems of government based on the federation of our pre existing nation states;

Reasserting the noble heritage and worthy customs and wisdom of our ancestors and the freedom they enjoyed since time immemorial;

Valuing, respecting and be mindful of our diversity but conscious of our common destiny and solidarity;

Pride in the maintenance of our identity, enabling us to renew our freedom, autonomy, wisdom and worthy customs;

We the people and citizens of the Federal Democratic Republic of Solomon Islands, now under the guidance and blessings of God the Creator, commit this Federation for Solomon Islands and by Divine help;

(a) To uphold Christian and other similar spiritual principles and our worthy customs and traditions;

(b) To provide autonomous arrangements for the governance of the people;

(c) To recognize the sovereignty of the people;

(d) To recognize the autonomy and interdependence of tribes, clans, lineages, natural family or communities;

(e) To govern through democracy, accountability, transparency, equality and social justice and rule of law;

(f) To be mindful that Solomon Islands will evolve to reflect a changing world and local circumstances and committed that those changes will be directed through constitutional and legal channels and not by violent or unlawful means;

(g) To protect the environment, land, sea and air and our cultural identity and intellectual property rights for the present and future generations;
(h) To create, protect, manage and sustain a viable economic base, for the economic growth of the Republic;

(i) To work against universal problems of poverty, hunger, illiteracy, corruption, pollution, sex slavery, human trafficking, discrimination, unemployment, effect of climate change, health related issues, terrorism, violence, crimes and other social ills;

(j) To manage and monitor population growth;

(k) To meet the obligations of citizens under this Constitution with dignity and integrity; and

(l) To strive to bring together a people of diversity.

We the people and citizens of the Federal Democratic Republic of Solomon Islands, acting under the Supremacy of God and the authority of our traditional clan and tribal systems and leadership,

Do now therefore declare -

Following the national consultation with the people, provincial consultations through our Constitutional Congress and the Eminent Persons Advisory Council, the Joint Constitutional Congress and the Eminent Persons Advisory Council Plenary Sessions, and the National Convention,

That we having resolved to enact or promulgate a Constitution for the Federal Democratic Republic of Solomon Islands;

And acting under the guidance of Almighty God, through the final decision of the people at the National Convention made this ______ day of ______ 2014 and later formally endorsed as it is by the elected representatives on this ________ day of _____ 2014.

Hereby establish, adopt and give to ourselves this Constitution -

To come into effect in the following manner:-

(a) On the day following the day on which this Constitution is endorsed by the Head of State, acting with and in accordance with the advice of Cabinet, shall come into operation, together with such other provisions as are necessary to enable the first general election of the President and members of the Federal Parliament to take place;

(b) On the date fixed for the return of the writs in the first general election of the President and members of the Federal Parliament, the remainder of this Constitution shall come into operation.

GOD BLESS THE FEDERAL DEMOCRATIC REPUBLIC OF SOLOMON ISLANDS

(b) the alienation is in accordance with a valid customary practice, process or processes applicable in the locality; and

(c) fair and reasonable compensation for such alienation is made to the right tribe, clan, line or individuals as the case may be; or

(d) the alienation is in accordance with a statute enacted for such purpose including provisions for due process for persons aggrieved and for payment of fair and reasonable compensation for such alienation to the right tribe, clan, line or individuals as the case may be.

20. Usage of Customary Land, Other Customary Resources or Properties

(1) The rights to use customary lands and other customary resources or properties which include the sea, reef and fishing grounds is directly linked to the right to own as amplified in clause 19 and as such is limited to indigenous tribes, clans, lines or individual inhabitants of the localities as the case may be, who have been using such customary lands etc as primary, secondary or tertiary owners according to the customary law and practice of the particular locality concerned.

(2) The rights to use referred to in the preceding sub clause shall not be abrogated or alienated unless:

(a) the tribe, clan, line or individuals as the case may be, have given either free actual consent or free informed consent before the alienation took place; and

(b) the alienation is in accordance with a valid customary process or processes applicable in the locality; and

(c) fair and reasonable compensation for such alienation is made to the right tribe, clan, line or individuals as the case may be; or

(d) the alienation is in accordance with a statute enacted for such purpose including provisions for due process for persons aggrieved and for payment of fair and reasonable compensation for such alienation to the right tribe, clan, line or individuals as the case may be.

(3) The Federal, State and Community Governments shall enact laws and make administrative measures to prevent any unauthorized alienation, intrusion, interference or encroachment of the right to use.
21. Succession Rights to Ownership and Usage Rights of Customary Lands and Other Customary Resources or Properties.

Succession rights as to the right to own and the right to use customary land and other customary resources or property including areas of the sea, reefs and fishing grounds as amplified in the preceding clauses shall devolve in accordance with the applicable customary law and practice of each particular locality to be set out in each State Constitution or a Community Constitution or applicable Governing Rules.

22. Right to Control Development of Customary Lands and Resources

(1) Indigenous Solomon Islanders shall have the right to decide their own priorities for the development, use or exploitation of their customary lands and resources as they affect their lives, beliefs, institutions and spiritual well-being.

(2) Every development of customary land or exploitation of resources shall have the customary land and resource owners free and well informed consent prior to the approval or implementation of any project affecting their lands and other resources, particularly in connection with the development, utilization or exploitation of forests, minerals, water and other natural resources.

(3) Any public authority, body or person seeking to develop customary land or resources shall ensure that studies are carried out by reputable and recognized independent body in cooperation with the peoples concerned, to assess the social, spiritual, cultural and environmental impact of the planned development or exploitative activity and the findings of an impact study shall be taken into account in considering a scheme of development or exploitative activity and if approved shall be criteria in the implementation of the development or activity. If the findings of the Environment Impact Study indicate gross harm will affect life and environment then no development shall take place.

(4) The improvement of the conditions of life, work, levels of health and education of the customary owners concerned, with their participation and co-operation, shall be matters of priority in plans and or as a condition precedent on the giving of consent for the overall economic development of their customary lands and the exploitation of resources.

(5) Customary land and resource owners shall be entitled to negotiate and receive a just and fair return from the financial and economic benefits of the development, utilisation or exploitation of their resources and fair compensation for measures taken to mitigate adverse environmental, economic, social, cultural and spiritual impacts.

23. Right to the Conservation, Preservation, Restoration and Protection of Customary Lands and Resources

Indigenous Solomon Islanders shall have the right to the conservation, preservation, restoration and protection of the total environment and the productive capacity of their customary lands and resources by appropriate legislation.
24. Right to Retention of Ownership, Control and Protection of Culture, Arts and Intellectual Property

Indigenous Solomon Islanders shall retain the full ownership, possession, control and protection of their ‘tabu’ traditional properties, culture, arts and intellectual property subject to law.

25. Right to Preservation of Worthy Custom, Laws and Traditions

Legal effect shall be retained as to customary laws, traditions, land tenure systems and institutions for the regulation of clan and tribal village communities, the development and management of customary land and resources and the right for owners to maintain and strengthen their distinctive spiritual and material relationship, and in particular the collective aspect of that relationship with their customary lands and resources, until evolved or changed according to the relevant customary laws and practice, or by other lawful means.

26. Right against Forceful Removal from Customary Land for Development

(1) No customary landowners may be forcefully removed from their customary lands without their free and well informed consent, unless under provisions authorized by statute and subject to fair and reasonable compensation or appropriate relocation and by fair due legal process.

(2) If the grounds for the forceful removal cease to exist, the original customary landowners shall have the first right of refusal in any disposal of their original lands and shall be allowed to reoccupy them.

(Note: The Next Plenary to consider the possibility of creating separate chapter or shift to any Chapter that is most appropriate)

27. Special Provisions on Public Lands

(1) Return of Perpetual Estate Titles in Public Lands to Descendants of Original Customary Land Owners.

(a) All perpetual estate titles in public lands, whether developed or undeveloped shall be returned by the Commissioner of Lands to the descendants of the original customary land owners;

(b) A Federal law shall be enacted for the purpose of ascertaining the descendants of the original customary land owners before the Lands Commission transfers the perpetual estate title of such public lands;

(c) Where such public land is developed the developer which may include the Republic shall hold a leasehold title or a fixed term estate title limited to a term not exceeding 50 years from the descendants of the original customary land owners;

(d) The 50 years lease hold title or the fixed term estate title referred to in the preceding sub clause may be renewed if the descendants of the original customary land owners who are the holders of the perpetual estate title agree to any renewal.
(2) Exceptions to Return of Perpetual Estate Titles in Public Lands to Descendants of Original Customary Land Owners.

(a) The perpetual estate titles of the public lands in the Federal Capital (Honiara City) which are currently held by the Commissioner of Lands shall now be held instead by the Lands Commission established under sub clause (3);

(b) The perpetual estate titles of the public lands in the various Provincial Capitals which are currently held by the Commissioner of Lands shall now be held instead by each respective State Government when those Provincial Capitals become State Capitals;

(c) In addition to the exceptions in the preceding sub clauses the following class of persons or institutions shall also be permitted to hold perpetual estate titles in public lands:

(i) Community Governments;
(ii) All the Christian Churches which are members of Solomon Islands Christian Association (SICA) and Solomon Islands Full Gospel Association (SIFGA) and other Christian Churches which are registered in the Republic;
(iii) Trustees of Customary Landowning Groups (tribe, clan, line or lineage as the case may be);
(iv) Trustee of individual customary landowner;
(v) a person holding such estate on trust for a Solomon Islander subject to the filing of a statutory declaration to this effect with the Registrar and in a form required by the Registrar;
(vi) a trustee in bankruptcy;
(vii) a liquidator appointed under the provision of any existing law;
(viii) a company registered in the Republic where at least 60 per centum of the equity is held beneficially by persons who are Solomon Islanders;
(ix) a personal representative or guardian;
(x) the Public Trustee;
(xi) State Owned Enterprises incorporated by any written law of Solomon Islands;
(xii) registered co-operatives under the Co-operatives Societies Act;
(xiii) community companies, under the Companies’ Act 2009;
(xiv) a settler from the former Gilbert and Ellice Islands Colony who prior to 15th September 1977 had been granted, had acquired, or was holding land in perpetuity or a descendant of such settler:

Provided that such settler or his descendant shall not be entitled to be registered as the owner of a perpetual estate in any land other than such land as is referred to in this paragraph.

(3) Establishment of the Lands Commission

(a) There shall be established a Lands Commission.

(b) The Lands Commission shall be constituted by representatives from the States and the Commissioner of Lands, the Surveyor General and the Director of Physical Planning of Honiara City Council who shall be ex-officio members.
(c) The Lands Commission shall inter alia have the power to allocate leasehold or fixed term estates only in respect of the public land within Honiara city.

(d) The other powers and functions that is reasonably necessary or incidental to make the Lands Commission function better shall be provided for in an Act of the Federal Parliament.

(4) Vesting of Perpetual Estate Titles in the Republic

(a) Unless permitted under clause 27 (2) (a), (b) and (c) only a Solomon Islander shall be entitled to hold a perpetual estate title in public lands under this clause.

(b) No person who is not a Solomon Islander shall be permitted to hold any perpetual estate title in any customary land.

In this clause, ‘public land’ means land where the perpetual estate title is shown in the register to be held by the Commissioner of Lands for and on behalf of the Republic.

In this clause, ‘Solomon Islander’ means a person who has at least one grandparent who is a member of a group, tribe, clan or line native, aboriginal or indigenous to the Republic.

CHAPTER FOUR: PROTECTION OF FUNDAMENTAL RIGHTS AND FREEDOMS OF THE INDIVIDUAL

28. Fundamental rights and freedoms of the individual

(1) Whereas every person in the Republic is entitled to the fundamental rights and freedoms of the individual, that is to say, the right, whatever his or her race, place of origin, political opinions, religious affiliations, colour, creed or sex, but subject to respect for the rights and freedoms of others and for the public interest, to each and all of the following, namely:-

(a) life, liberty, security of the person and the protection of the law;

(b) freedom of conscience of expression and of assembly and association; and

(c) protection for the privacy of his or her home and other property and from deprivation of property without compensation, the provisions of this Chapter shall have effect for the purpose of affording protection to those rights and freedoms subject to such limitations of that protection as are contained in those provisions, being limitations designed to ensure that the enjoyment of the said rights and freedoms by any individual does not prejudice the rights and freedoms of others or the public interest.

29. Protection of right to life

(1) No person shall be deprived of his or her life intentionally save in execution of the sentence of a court in respect of a criminal offence under the law in force in the Republic of which he or she has been convicted.
(2) A person shall not be regarded as having been deprived of his or her life in contravention of this clause if he or she dies as the result of the use, to such extent and in such circumstances as are permitted by law, of such force as is reasonably justifiable -

(a) for the defense of any person from violence or for the defense of property;

(b) in order to effect a lawful arrest or to prevent the escape of a person lawfully detained;

(c) for the purpose of suppressing a riot, insurrection or mutiny; or

(d) in order to prevent the commission by that person of a criminal offence, or if he or she dies as the result of a lawful act of war.

(3) No persons shall be deprived of the right to life before birth, during birth or even during conception, excepting in an effort to save the mother as certified by at least two practicing medical doctors.

30. Protection of right to personal liberty

(1) No person shall be deprived of his or her personal liberty saves as may be authorized by law in any of the following cases, that is to say -

(a) in consequence of his or her unfitness to plead to a criminal charge;

(b) in execution of the sentence or order of a court, whether established for the Republic or some other country, in respect of a criminal offence of which he or she has been convicted;

(c) in execution of the order of a court of record punishing him or her for contempt of that court or of a court inferior to it;

(d) in execution of the order of a court made to secure the fulfilment of any obligation imposed on him or her by law;

(e) for the purpose of bringing him or her before a court in execution of the order of a court;

(f) upon reasonable suspicion of his or her having committed, or being about to commit, a criminal offence under the law in force in the Republic;

(g) in the case of a person who has not attained the age of eighteen years, under the order of a court or with the consent of his or her parent or guardian, for the purpose of his or her education or welfare;

(h) for the purpose of preventing the spread of an infectious or contagious disease;

(i) in the case of a person who is, or is reasonably suspected to be, of unsound mind, addicted to drugs or alcohol, or a vagrant, for the purpose of his or her care or treatment or the protection of the community;
(j) for the purpose of preventing the unlawful entry of that person into the Republic, or for the purpose of effecting the expulsion, extradition or other lawful removal of that person from the Republic or for the purpose of restricting that person while he or she is being conveyed through the Republic in the course of his or her extradition or removal as a convicted prisoner from one country to another; or

(k) to such extent as may be necessary in the execution of a lawful order of a court requiring that person to remain within a specified area within the Republic or prohibiting him or her from being within such an area, or to such extent as may be reasonably justifiable for the taking of proceedings against that person relating to the making of any such order, or to such extent as may be reasonably justifiable for restraining that person during any visit that he or she is permitted to make to any part of the Republic in which, in consequence of any such order, his or her presence would otherwise be unlawful.

(2) Any person who is arrested or detained shall be informed as soon as reasonably practicable, and in a language that he or she understands, of the reasons for his or her arrest or detention.

(2) Any person who is arrested or detained:

(a) for the purpose of bringing him or her before a court in execution of the order of a court; or

(b) upon reasonable suspicion of his or her having committed, or being about to commit, a criminal offence under the law in force in the Republic, and who is not released, shall be brought without undue delay before a court; and if any person arrested or detained upon reasonable suspicion of his or her having committed or being about to commit a criminal offence is not tried within a reasonable time, then, without prejudice to any further proceedings that may be brought against him or her, he or she shall be released either unconditionally or upon reasonable conditions, including in particular such conditions as are reasonably necessary to ensure that he or she appears at a later date for trial or for proceedings preliminary to trial.

31. Protection from slavery and forced labor

(1) No person shall be held in slavery or servitude.

(2) No person shall be required to perform forced labour.

(3) For the purposes of this clause, the expression "forced labour" does not include:

(a) any labour required in consequence of the sentence or order of a court;

(b) any labour required of any person while he or she is lawfully detained that, though not required in consequence of the sentence or order of a court, is reasonably necessary in the interests of hygiene or for the maintenance of the place at which he or she is detained;

(c) any labour required of a member of a disciplined force in pursuance of his or her duties as such or, in the case of a person who has conscientious objections to service as a member of a naval, military or air force, any labor that that person is required by law to perform in place of such service;

(d) any labour required during any period of public emergency or in the event of any other emergency or calamity that threatens the life and well-being of the community, to the extent that the requiring of such labour is reasonably justifiable in the circumstances of any situation arising or existing during that period or as a result of that other emergency or calamity, for the purpose of dealing with that situation; or

(e) any labour reasonably required as part of reasonable and normal family, communal or other civic obligations.

32. Protection from inhuman treatment

No person shall be subjected to torture or to inhuman or degrading punishment or other mistreatment except for the protection and maintenance of family, village or communal peace where reasonable chastisement may be applied.

33. Protection from deprivation of property

(1) No property of any description shall be compulsorily taken possession of, and no interest in or right over property of any description shall be compulsorily acquired, except where the following conditions are satisfied, that is to say:

(a) the taking of possession or acquisition is necessary or expedient in the interests of defense, public safety, public order, public morality, public health, town or country planning or the development or utilisation of any property in such a manner as to promote the public benefit;

(b) there is reasonable justification for the causing of any hardship that may result to any person having an interest in or right over the property; and

(c) provision is made by a law applicable to that taking of possession or acquisition:

(i) for the payment of reasonable compensation (the valuable consideration of which may take the form of cash or some other form and may be payable by way of lump sum or by instalments) within a reasonable period of time having due regard to all the relevant circumstances; and

(ii) securing to any person having an interest in or right over the property a right of access to the High Court, whether direct or on appeal from any other authority, for the determination of his or her interest or right, the legality of the taking of possession or acquisition of the property, interest or right, and the reasonableness of the compensation and the period of time within which it shall be paid.

(2) Nothing contained in or done under the authority of any law shall be held to be inconsistent with or in contravention of this clause:

(a) to the extent that the law in question makes provision for the taking of possession or acquisition of any property;
(i) in satisfaction of any tax, rate or duty;
(ii) by way of penalty for breach of the law or forfeiture in consequence of a breach of the law;
(iii) as an incident of a lease, tenancy, mortgage, charge, bill of sale, pledge or contract;
(iv) in the execution of judgments or orders of a court in proceedings for the determination of civil rights or obligations;
(v) in circumstances where it is reasonably necessary so to do because the property is in a dangerous state or injurious to the health of human beings, animals or plants;
(vi) in consequence of any law with respect to the limitation of actions or acquisitive prescription;
(vii) for so long only as may be necessary for the purposes of any examination, investigation, trial or enquiry or, in the case of land, the carrying out thereon;
(viii) of work of soil conservation or of conservation of other natural resources;
(ix) of work relating to agricultural development or improvement which the owner or occupier of the land has been required, and has without reasonable excuse refused or failed, to carry out, except so far as that provision or, as the case may be, the thing done under the authority thereof is shown not to be reasonably justifiable in a democratic society; or
(b) to the extent that the law in question makes provision for the taking of possession or acquisition of:

(i) enemy property;

(ii) property of a deceased person, a person of unsound mind, a person who has not attained the age of twenty-one years or a person who is absent from the Republic, for the purpose of its administration for the benefit of the persons entitled to the beneficial interest therein;

(iii) property of a person declared to be insolvent or a body corporate in liquidation, for the purpose of its administration for the benefit of the creditors of the insolvent or body corporate and, subject thereto, for the benefit of other persons entitled to the beneficial interest in the property; or

(iv) property subject to a trust, for the purpose of vesting the property in persons appointed as trustees under the instrument creating the trust or by a court or, by order of a court, for the purpose of giving effect to the trust.

(3) Nothing in this clause shall be construed as affecting the making or operation of any law for the compulsory taking of possession in the public interest of any property, or the compulsory acquisition in the public interest of any interest in or right over property, where that property, interest or right is held by a body corporate established for public purposes by any law and in which no moneys have been invested other than moneys provided by the Federal or State Government or the compulsory taking or deprivation of property for contravention of the worthy customs and practices of the locality.

34. Protection for Privacy of Home and other Property
(1) Except with his or her own consent, no person shall be subjected to the search of his or her person or his or her property or the entry by others on his or her premises.

(2) Nothing contained in or done under the authority of any law shall be held to be inconsistent with or in contravention of this clause to the extent that the law in question makes provision:

(a) in the interests of defense, public safety, public order, the prevention and investigation of breaches of the law, public morality, public health, town or country planning, the development and utilization of mineral resources, or the development or utilisation of any other property in such a manner as to promote the public benefit;

(b) for the purpose of protecting the rights or freedoms of other persons;

(c) for the purpose of authorizing an officer or agent of the Federal, State or Community Government, an authority of the municipal government of Honiara City or a body corporate established by law for a public purpose to enter on the premises of any person in order to inspect those premises or anything thereon for the purpose of any tax, rate or duty or in order to carry out work connected with any property that is lawfully on those premises and that belongs to the Federal, State or Community Government, that authority of the municipal government of Honiara City or that body corporate, as the case may be;

(d) for the purpose of authorizing the entry upon any premises in pursuance of an order of a court for the purpose of enforcing the judgment or order of a court in any proceedings; or

(e) for the purpose of authorizing the entry upon any premises for the purpose of preventing or detecting criminal offences, and except so far as that provision or, as the case may be, anything done under the authority thereof is shown not to be reasonably justifiable in a democratic society.

35. Provisions to Secure Protection of Law

(1) If any person is charged with a criminal offence, then, unless the charge is withdrawn, that person shall be afforded a fair hearing within a reasonable time by an independent and impartial court established by law.

(2) Every person who is charged with a criminal offence:

(a) shall be presumed to be innocent until he or she is proved or has pleaded guilty;

(b) shall be informed as soon as reasonably practicable, in detail and in a language that he or she understands, of the nature of the offence charged;

(c) shall be given adequate time and facilities for the preparation of his or her defense;

(d) shall be permitted to defend himself or herself before the court in person or, at his or her own expense, by a legal representative of his or her own choice;
(e) shall be afforded facilities to examine in person or by his or her legal representative the witnesses called by the prosecution before the court, and to obtain the attendance and carry out the examination of witnesses to testify on his or her behalf before the court on the same conditions as those applying to witnesses called by the prosecution; and

(f) shall be permitted to have without payment the assistance of an interpreter if he or she cannot understand the language used at the trial of the charge;

and, except with his or her own consent, the trial shall not take place in his or her absence unless he or she so conducts himself as to render the continuance of the proceedings in his or her presence impracticable and the court has ordered him or her to be removed and the trial to proceed in his or her absence.

(3) When a person is tried for any criminal offence, the accused person or any person authorized by him or her in that behalf shall, if he or she so requires and subject to payment of such reasonable fee as may be prescribed by law, be given within a reasonable time after judgment a copy for the use of the accused person of any record of the proceedings made by or on behalf of the court.

(4) No person shall be held to be guilty of a criminal offence on account of any act or omission that did not, at the time it took place, constitute such an offence, and no penalty shall be imposed for any criminal offence that is severer in degree or description than the maximum penalty that might have been imposed for that offence at the time when it was committed.

(5) No person who shows that he or she has been tried by a competent court for a criminal offence and either convicted or acquitted shall again be tried for that offence or for any other criminal offence of which he or she could have been convicted at the trial for that offence, save upon the order of a superior court in the course of appeal or review proceedings relating to the conviction or acquittal.

(6) No person shall be tried for a criminal offence if he or she shows that he or she has been pardoned for that offence.

(7) No person who is tried for a criminal offence shall be compelled to give evidence at the trial.

(8) Any court or other adjudicating authority prescribed by law for the determination of the existence or extent of any civil right or obligation shall be established or recognized by law and shall be independent and impartial; and where proceedings for such a determination are instituted by any person before such a court or other adjudicating authority, that person shall be given a fair hearing within a reasonable time.

(9) Except with the agreement of all the parties thereto, all proceedings of every court and proceedings for the determination of the existence or extent of any civil right or obligation before any other adjudicating authority, including the announcement of the decision of the court or other authority, shall be held in public.
(10) Nothing in the preceding sub-clause shall prevent the court or other adjudicating authority from excluding from the proceedings persons other than the parties thereto and their legal representatives to such extent as the court or other authority:

(a) may by law be empowered so to do and may consider necessary or expedient in circumstances where publicity would prejudice the interests of justice or in interlocutory proceedings or in the interests of decency, public morality, the welfare of persons under the age of eighteen years or the protection of the private lives of persons concerned in the proceedings; or
(b) may by law be empowered or required so to do in the interests of defense, public safety or public order.

(11) Nothing contained in or done under the authority of any law shall be held to be inconsistent with or in contravention of:

(a) sub-clause (2)(a) of this clause to the extent that the law in question imposes upon any person charged with a criminal offence the burden of proving particular facts;

(b) sub-clause (2)(e) of this clause to the extent that the law in question imposes reasonable conditions that must be satisfied if witnesses called to testify on behalf of an accused person are to be paid their expenses out of public funds; or

(c) sub-clause (5) of this section to the extent that the law in question authorises a court to try a member of a disciplined force for a criminal offence notwithstanding any trial and conviction or acquittal of that member under the disciplinary law of that force, so, however, that any court so trying such a member and convicting him or her shall in sentencing him or her to any punishment take into account any punishment awarded him under that disciplinary law.

36. Protection of Freedom of Conscience

(1) Except with his or her own consent, no person shall be hindered in the enjoyment of his or her freedom of conscience, and for the purposes of this clause the said freedom includes freedom of thought and of religion, freedom to change his or her religion or belief, and freedom, either alone or in community with others, and both in public and in private, to manifest and propagate his or her religion or belief in worship, teaching, practice and observance.

(2) Every religious community shall be entitled, at its own expense, to establish and maintain places of education and to manage any place of education which it wholly maintains.

(3) No religious community shall be prevented from providing religious instruction for persons of that community in the course of any education provided at any place of education which it wholly maintains or in the course of any education which it otherwise provides.

(4) Except with his or her own consent (or, if he or she is a person who has not attained the age of eighteen years, the consent of his or her guardian) no person attending any place of education shall be required to receive religious instruction or take part in or attend any religious ceremony or observance if that instruction, ceremony or observance relates to a religion other than his or her own.
(5) No person shall be compelled to take any oath which is contrary to his or her religion or belief or to take any oath in a manner which is contrary to his or her religion or belief.

(6) Nothing contained in or done under the authority of any law shall be held to be inconsistent with or in contravention of this clause to the extent that the law in question makes provision which is reasonably required:

(a) in the interests of defense, public safety, public order, public morality or public health; or

(b) for the purpose of protecting the rights and freedoms of other persons, including the right to practice and observe any religion without the unsolicited intervention of members of any other religion, and except so far as that provision or, as the case may be, the thing done under the authority thereof is shown not to be reasonably justifiable in a democratic society.

(7) Nothing in this clause shall affect the power of the Federal Parliament and States Legislatures to prescribe the curriculum and related matters in all places of education in their territorial jurisdictions within the Republic.

(8) References in this clause to a religion shall be construed as including references to a religious denomination, and cognate expressions shall be construed accordingly.

37. Protection of Freedom of Expression

(1) Except with his or her own consent, no person shall be hindered in the enjoyment of his or her freedom of expression, and for the purposes of this clause the said freedom includes the freedom to hold opinions without interference, freedom to receive ideas and information without interference, freedom to communicate ideas and information without interference and freedom from interference with his or her correspondence.

(2) Nothing contained in or done under the authority of any law shall be held to be inconsistent with or in contravention of this clause to the extent that the law in question makes provision:

(a) in the interests of defense, public safety, public order, public morality or public health;

(b) for the purpose of protecting the reputations, rights and freedoms of other persons or the private lives of persons concerned in legal proceedings, preventing the disclosure of information received in confidence, maintaining the authority and independence of the courts, or regulating the administration or the technical operation of telephony, telegraphy, internet, posts, wireless, broadcasting or television; or

(c) that imposes restrictions upon public officers;

and except so far as that provision or, as the case may be, the thing done under the authority thereof is shown not to be reasonably justifiable in a democratic society.

38. Protection of Freedom of Assembly and Association
(1) Except with his or her own consent, no person shall be hindered in the enjoyment of his or her freedom of assembly and association, that is to say, his or her right to assemble freely and associate with other persons and in particular to form or belong to political parties or to form or belong to trade unions or other associations for the protection of his or her interests.

(2) Nothing contained in or done under the authority of any law shall be held to be inconsistent with or in contravention of this clause to the extent that the law in question makes provision:

(a) in the interests of defense, public safety, public order, public morality or public health;
(b) for the purpose of protecting the rights or freedoms of other persons; or
(c) that imposes restrictions upon public officers, and except so far as that provision or, as the case may be, the thing done under the authority thereof is shown not to be reasonably justifiable in a democratic society.

39. Protection of Freedom of Movement

(1) No person shall be deprived of his or her freedom of movement, and for the purposes of this clause the said freedom means the right to lawfully move freely throughout the Republic, the right to lawfully reside in any part of the Republic, the right to lawfully enter the Republic and immunity from expulsion from the Republic.

(2) Any restriction on a person's freedom of movement that is involved in his or her lawful detention shall not be held to be inconsistent with or in contravention of this clause.

(3) Nothing contained in or done under the authority of any law shall be held to be inconsistent with or in contravention of this clause to the extent that the law in question makes provision:

(a) for the imposition of restrictions on the movement or residence within the Republic of any person or on any person's right to leave the Republic that are reasonably required in the interests of defence, public safety or public order;

(b) for the imposition of restrictions on the movement or residence within the Republic or on the right to leave the Republic of persons generally or any class of persons that are reasonably required in the interests of defence, public safety, public order, public morality or public health;

(c) for the imposition of restrictions on the movement or residence within the Republic of any person who is not a citizen of the Republic or the exclusion or expulsion from the Republic of any such person;

(d) for the imposition of restrictions on the acquisition or use by any person of land or other property in the Republic;

(e) for the imposition of restrictions upon the movement or residence within the Republic of public officers;

(f) for the removal of a person from the Republic to be tried or punished in some other country for a criminal offence under the law of that other country or to undergo imprisonment in that other country in execution of the sentence of a court in respect of a criminal offence under the law in force in the Republic of which he or her has been convicted; or

(g) for the imposition of restrictions, by order of a court, on the movement or residence within the Republic of any person or on any person's right to leave the Republic either in consequence of his or her having been found guilty of a criminal offence under the law in force in the Republic or for the purpose of ensuring that he or she appears before a court at a later date for trial or for proceedings relating to his or her extradition or lawful removal from the Republic, and except so far as that provision or, as the case may be, the thing done under the authority thereof is shown not to be reasonably justifiable in a democratic society.

(4) If any person whose freedom of movement has been restricted by virtue only of such a provision as is referred to in sub-clause (3) (a) or (b) of this clause so requests at any time during the period of that restriction not earlier than six months after he last made such a request during that period, his or her case shall be reviewed by an independent and impartial tribunal presided over by a person, qualified to be admitted to practise in the Republic as an advocate or as a barrister and solicitor, appointed by the Chief Justice.

(5) On any review by a tribunal in pursuance of the preceding sub-clause of the case of a person whose freedom of movement has been restricted, the decision of the tribunal concerning the necessity or expediency of continuing the restriction shall be binding on the authority by which it was ordered.

40. Protection from Discrimination on grounds of Race, etc

(1) Subject to the provisions of sub-clauses (5), (6) and (9) of this clause, no law shall make any provision that is discriminatory either of itself or in its effect.

(2) Subject to the provisions of sub-clauses (7), (8) and (9) of this clause, no person shall be treated in a discriminatory manner by any person acting by virtue of any written law or in the performance of the functions of any public office or any public authority.

(3) Subject to the provisions of sub-clause (9) of this clause, no person shall be treated in a discriminatory manner in respect of access to shops, hotels, lodging-houses, public restaurants, eating-houses or places of public entertainment or in respect of access to places of public resort maintained wholly or partly out of public funds or dedicated to the use of the general public.

(4) In this clause, the expression "discriminatory" means affording different treatment to different persons attributable wholly or mainly to their respective descriptions by race, place of origin, political opinions, colour, creed or sex whereby persons of one such description are subjected to disabilities or restrictions to which persons of another such description are not made subject or are accorded privileges or advantages which are not accorded to persons of another such description.

(5) Sub-clause (1) of this clause shall not apply to any law so far as that law makes provision:
(a) for the imposition of taxation or the appropriation of revenue by the Federal, State or Community Government or the municipal government of Honiara City, or any municipal government of any state capital;

(b) with respect to persons who are not citizens of the Republic;

(c) for the application, in the case of persons of any such description as is mentioned in the preceding sub-clause (or of persons connected with such persons), of the law with respect to adoption, marriage, divorce, burial, devolution of property on death or other like matters that is the personal law applicable to persons of that description;

(d) for the application of customary law;

(e) for the prohibition of cohabitation of same sex partners and same sex marriages;

(f) with respect to land, the tenure of land, the resumption and acquisition of land and other like purposes;

(g) for the advancement of the more disadvantaged members of the community; or

(h) whereby persons of any such description as is mentioned in the preceding sub-clause may be subjected to any disability or restriction or may be accorded any privilege or advantage which, having regard to its nature and to special circumstances pertaining to those persons or to persons of any other such description is reasonably justifiable in a democratic society.

(6) Nothing contained in any law shall be held to be inconsistent with or in contravention of sub-clause (1) of this clause to the extent that it makes provision with respect to standards or qualifications (not being standards or qualifications specifically relating to race, place of origin, political opinions, color, creed or sex) to be required of any person who is appointed to any office in the Federal or States public service, any office in a disciplined force, any office in the service of the municipal government of Honiara City or any municipal government of any state capital or any office in a body corporate established directly by any law for public purposes, or who wishes to engage in any trade or business.

(7) Sub-clause (2) of this clause shall not apply to anything which is expressly or by necessary implication authorized to be done by any such provision of law as is referred to in sub-clause (5) or (6) of this clause.

(8) Sub-clause (2) of this clause shall not affect any discretion relating to the institution, conduct or discontinuance of civil or criminal proceedings in any court that is vested in any person by or under this Constitution or any other law.

(9) Nothing contained in or done under the authority of any law shall be held to be inconsistent with or in contravention of this clause to the extent that the law in question makes provision whereby persons of any such description as is mentioned in sub-clause (4) of this clause may be subjected to any restriction on the rights and freedoms guaranteed by clauses 34, 36, 37, 38 and 39 of this Constitution, being such a restriction as is authorized by Clause 34(2), 36(6), 37(2), 38(2) or 39(3), as the case may be.
Note: The next Plenary to consider having another new clause as clause 41 to further restrict the Fundamental Rights and Freedoms of the Individual which should read as:

‘The Fundamental Rights and Freedoms of the Individual shall also be subject to restrictions, prohibitions, limitations or qualifications on the grounds of worthy customs and customary practices as observed within any locality of the Republic, provided that such restrictions, prohibitions, limitations or qualifications are of current application (usages or practices) in that locality and are not harsh, reasonably justifiable in a democratic society and are not repugnant to general humanity.’

41. Provisions for Period of Public Emergency

(1) In this Chapter "period of public emergency" means any period during which:

(a) the Republic is at war; or

(b) there is in force a declaration made under the provisions of this clause.

(2) The President may at any time by proclamation declare that a state of public emergency exists and as soon as practicable shall publish such proclamation in the Gazette.

(3) A declaration made under sub-clause (2) of this clause shall cease to have effect on the expiration of a period of seven days commencing with the day on which the declaration is made unless before the expiration of that period it has been approved by a resolution of the Federal Parliament supported by the votes of at least two-thirds of all the members thereof:

Provided that, if a declaration is made during any period when the Federal Parliament is not sitting, the Federal Parliament shall be convened not later than two weeks after the day on which the declaration is made and the period of seven days referred to in this sub-clause shall commence on the day on which the Federal Parliament convened.

(4) A declaration made under sub-clause (2) of this clause may at any time before it has been approved by a resolution of the Federal Parliament be revoked by the President by a proclamation published in the Gazette.

(5) A declaration made under sub-clause (2) of this clause and approved by a resolution of the Federal Parliament under sub-clause (3) shall continue in force until the expiration of a period of four months commencing with the day on which the declaration is made or until such earlier date as may be specified in the resolution.

(6) Notwithstanding the provisions of sub-clause (5) of this clause, a declaration made under sub-clause (2) and approved by a resolution of the Federal Parliament under sub-clause (3) may at any time be revoked by a resolution of the Parliament supported by the votes of a majority of all the members thereof.

(7) Nothing contained in or done under the authority of any law shall be held to be inconsistent with or in contravention of clauses 30, 31 (2), 34, 36, 38, 39 or 40 of this Constitution to the extent that the law in question makes in relation to any period of public emergency provision, or authorizes the doing during any such period of anything, that is reasonably justifiable in the circumstances of any situation arising or existing during the period for the purpose of dealing with that situation.

(8) Where a person is detained by virtue of a law that authorizes the taking during a period of public emergency of measures that are reasonably justifiable for the purpose of dealing with the situation that exists in the Republic during that period, the following provisions shall apply, that is to say:

(a) he or she shall, as soon as reasonably practicable, be furnished with a statement in writing, in a language that he or she understands, specifying in detail the grounds upon which he or she is detained;

(b) the announcement of his or her detention shall be made as soon as possible, and not more than fourteen days after the commencement of his or her detention a notification shall be published in the Gazette stating that he or she has been detained and giving particulars of the provision of law under which his or her detention is authorised;

(c) not more than one month after the commencement of his or her detention and thereafter during his or her detention at intervals of not more than six months, his or her case shall be reviewed by an independent and impartial tribunal established by law consisting of a Chairman appointed by the Chief Justice and two other persons appointed by the Judicial and Legal Service Commission;

(d) he or she shall be afforded reasonable facilities to consult a legal representative of his or her own choice who shall be permitted to make representations to the tribunal; and

(e) at the hearing of his or her case by the tribunal he or she shall be permitted to appear in person or by a legal representative of his or her own choice.

(9) On any review by a tribunal in pursuance of sub-clause (8) of this clause of the case of a detained person, the decision of the tribunal concerning the necessity or expediency of continuing his detention shall be binding on the authority by which it was ordered.

(10) Nothing contained in paragraph (d) or (e) of sub-clause (8) of this clause shall be construed as entitling a person to legal representation at public expense.

42. Compensation for Contravention of Rights and Freedoms

Any person any of whose rights or freedoms under this Chapter has been contravened shall be entitled to compensation for the contravention thereof from the person or authority which contravened it.

43. Enforcement of Protective Provisions

(1) Subject to the provisions of sub-clause (6) of this clause, if any person alleges that any of the provisions of clauses 28 to 40 (inclusive) of this Constitution has been, is being or is likely to be contravened in relation to him or her (or, in the case of a person who is detained, if any other person alleges such a contravention in relation to the detained person) then, without prejudice to any other action with respect to the same matter which is lawfully available, that person (or that other person) may apply to the High Court for redress.
(2) The High Court shall have original jurisdiction

(a) to hear and determine any application made by any person in pursuance of the preceding sub-clause;

(b) to determine any question arising in the case of any person which is referred to it in pursuance of the next following sub-clause, and may make such orders, issue such writs and give such directions, including the payment of compensation, as it may consider appropriate for the purpose of enforcing or securing the enforcement of any of the provisions of clauses 28 to 40 (inclusive) of this Constitution:

Provided that the High Court may decline to exercise its powers under this sub-clause if it is satisfied that adequate means of redress for the contravention alleged are or have been available to the person concerned under any other law.

(3) If in any proceedings in any subordinate court any question arises as to the contravention of any of the provisions of clauses 28 to 40 (inclusive) of this Constitution, the person presiding in that court may, and shall if any party to the proceedings so requests, refer the question to the High Court unless, in his or her opinion, the raising of the question is merely frivolous or vexatious.

(4) Any person aggrieved by any determination of the High Court under this clause may appeal there from to the Court of Appeal:

Provided that no appeal shall lie from a determination of the High Court under this clause dismissing an application on the ground that it is frivolous or vexatious.

(5) Parliament may confer upon the High Court powers additional to those conferred by this clause for the purpose of enabling that court more effectively to exercise the jurisdiction conferred upon it by this clause.

(6) Rules of court making provision with respect to the practice and procedure of the High Court in relation to the jurisdiction conferred on it by or under this clause (including rules with respect to the time within which any application or reference shall or may be made or brought) may be made by the person or authority for the time being having power to make rules of court with respect to the practice and procedure of that court generally.

44. Interpretation and Savings

(1) In this Chapter, unless the context otherwise requires-"contravention", in relation to any requirement, includes a failure to comply with that requirement, and cognate expressions shall be construed accordingly;

"court" means any court of law having jurisdiction in the Republic, other than a court established by a disciplinary law, and includes in clauses 29 and 31 of this Constitution a court established by a disciplinary law;

"disciplinary law" means a law regulating the discipline of any disciplined force;

"disciplined force" means:
(a) any naval, military or air force;
(b) the Solomon Islands Fire Service;
(c) the Correctional Services;
(d) the Marine Division;
(e) the Police Force;
(f) the Community Constabulary; or
(g) any other constabulary or police force established by Parliament.

“lawfully” means in accordance with custom, common law and equity or statutory law.

"member", in relation to a disciplined force, includes any person who, under the law regulating the discipline of that force, is subject to that discipline.

(2) Nothing contained in clauses 37, 38 and 39 of this Constitution shall be construed as precluding the inclusion in the terms and conditions of service of public officers of reasonable requirements as to their communication or association with other persons or as to their movements or residence.

(3) In relation to any person who is a member of a disciplined force of the Republic, nothing contained in or done under the authority of the disciplinary law of that force shall be held to be inconsistent with or in contravention of any of the provisions of this Chapter other than clauses 29, 31, 32, 33 and 40.

(4) In relation to any person who is a member of a disciplined force that is not a disciplined force of the Republic and who is present in the Republic in pursuance of arrangements made between the Government of the Republic and another Government or an international organization, nothing contained in or done under the authority of the disciplinary law of that force shall be held to be inconsistent with or in contravention of any of the provisions of this Chapter.

(5) No measure taken in relation to a person who is a member of a disciplined force of a country with which the Republic is at war and no law, to the extent that it authorizes the taking of any such measures, shall be held to be inconsistent with or in contravention of any of the provisions of this Chapter.

CHAPTER FIVE: CITIZENSHIP

45. General Principles concerning Citizenship

(1) Subject to this Chapter, all citizens of the Federal Democratic Republic of Solomon Islands are:

(a) entitled to the same rights, privileges and benefits of citizenship;
(b) subject to the same duties and responsibilities applying to all citizens; and
(c) equally entitled to hold and use a Solomon Islands passport, and to any other document of identification issued by the Federal Government or Federal Government agency to citizens.

(2) Citizenship is a concept that applies only to the Republic and not to any State of the Republic.

46. Retention of existing Citizenship

Every person who immediately before the coming into force of this Constitution was a citizen of Solomon Islands shall continue to be a citizen of Solomon Islands.

47. Acquisition of Citizenship

Citizenship may be acquired in accordance with this Constitution or under a federal law:

(a) by birth;
(b) by naturalization.

48. Citizenship by Birth

(1) Every person born after the coming into force of this Constitution is a citizen of Solomon Islands if, at the date of the person’s birth at least one parent is an indigenous Solomon Islander.

(2) Subject to clause 51, a person who is a citizen of Solomon Islands under this section shall not be deprived of that citizenship.

49. Application for Citizenship

(1) Any person who wishes to acquire citizenship by naturalization shall at the time of application:

(a) be at least 18 years of age;
(b) have resided in Solomon Islands at different times with a period of 12 years where the aggregate period of residence is for a period of not less than 10 years;
(c) provide evidence of intent to maintain a permanent residence in the Solomon Islands;
(d) certified to be of good character by Police;
(e) have knowledge of a Solomon Islands language or pijin other than English;
(f) have knowledge and respect of the traditions, customs and culture of the place of intended residence; and
(g) have knowledge of the Constitution, and demonstrate a willingness to observe the duties of citizens set out in clause 17.

(2) Each application for citizenship shall:

(a) state the intended place of residence within Solomon Islands and evidence of acceptance by the State and Community government of intended place of residence;
(b) prove that the applicant has sufficient means of support; and
(c) be accompanied by any fee prescribed by law.

50. Dual Citizenship

(1) Citizens of Solomon Islands may acquire or retain citizenship of another country.

(2) Any person, who as a result of acquiring the citizenship of another country where dual citizenship is prohibited, renounces and loses the citizenship of Solomon Islands, may re-acquire his or her Solomon Islands citizenship in accordance with the applicable Federal Law.

51. Termination of Citizenship

(1) A person may only be deprived of citizenship of Solomon Islands if that person:
   (a) renounces the citizenship of Solomon Islands;
   (b) acquires citizenship of another country where dual citizenship is not permissible by a law of that country; or
   (c) has acquired citizenship of Solomon Islands by fraud, false representation, concealment of any material fact, or by any other unlawful means.

52. Regaining of Solomon Islands Citizenship

(1) A previously indigenous citizen of Solomon Islands who is now a citizen of another country where dual citizenship is not allowed may automatically regain citizenship of Solomon Islands without compliance with the requirements of Clause 49 but upon renunciation of his or her current citizenship.

(2) A previously naturalized citizen of Solomon Islands who is now a citizen of another country where dual citizenship is not allowed may regain citizenship of Solomon Islands after compliance with the requirements of Clause 49 and renunciation of his or her current citizenship.

53. Additional Provisions

(1) A federal law may:
   (a) prescribe any other conditions for a person to acquire citizenship of Solomon Islands;
   (b) make additional provisions in relation to the acquisition, termination, deprivation and renunciation of citizenship;
   (c) impose requirements or prescribe procedures for the making of applications for citizenship by naturalization;
   (d) provide for the review of any purported grant of citizenship;
   (e) providing for the acquisition of citizenship of Solomon Islands by persons who are not eligible or who are no longer eligible to become citizens under this Chapter; and
   (f) otherwise generally giving effect to the provisions of this Chapter.
(2) A Federal law may also prescribe the conditions for other persons or groups that may wish to reside in Solomon Islands.

In this Sub-Clause ‘other persons or groups’ mean descendents of indigenous Solomon Islanders who were removed out of Solomon Islands during the black birding era or as a result of natural or manmade disasters or activities.

CHAPTER SIX: GOVERNMENT OF SOLOMON ISLANDS

Part I - Structure of Government

54. Composition of Government in the Republic

(1) In the Republic, government shall be comprised of:

(a) Federal Government;
(b) State Governments; and
(c) Community Governments.

(2) All spheres of government shall observe and adhere to the principles in this Chapter and shall conduct their activities within the parameters that the Chapter provides.

Part II - Principles of Co-operative Government

63. Assumption of Office of the President

(1) The person elected as President shall assume office by taking an oath affirming allegiance to the Federal Democratic Republic of Solomon Islands and the due execution of the functions of the office.
(2) The oath shall be as set out in Schedule Two and shall be taken before the Chief Justice, or a judge of the High Court, immediately upon election to the office.

64. Term of Office of the President

Subject to this Constitution, the President shall hold office only for a term of 5 years.

65. Impeachment of the President

(1) If an absolute majority of the members of the Federal Parliament support a motion for the impeachment of the President for violation of this Constitution or on the grounds of gross misconduct, the Speaker shall convene a special meeting of the Federal Parliament to consider and determine the charges made against the President.

(2) The Speaker shall:

   (a) if the Federal Parliament is then sitting or has been summoned to meet, bring the motion to the notice of the Federal Parliament for its consideration within 7 days; or
   (b) if the Federal Parliament is not then sitting, summon it to meet within 21 days of the date of the notice, to consider the motion.

(3) Upon the motion of the Federal Parliament passed by an absolute majority of all the members, the Speaker shall appoint and convene a special select committee comprising of:

   (a) the Chief Justice, who shall be Chairperson;
   (b) Three members appointed by the Speaker of the Federal Parliament in accordance with the standing orders of Parliament; and
   (c) the Head of each State.

(4) The special select committee shall investigate the matter and shall, within 14 days, report to the Federal Parliament on its findings in relation to the matters under inquiry.

(5) The President shall have the right to appear at meetings of the special select committee, and to be legally represented.

(6) If the special select committee reports that the particulars of any allegation against the President have not been substantiated, no further proceedings shall be taken in respect of that allegation.

(7) If the special select committee reports that the particulars of any allegation against the President have been substantiated and the President refuses to resign voluntarily, the Federal Parliament shall vote on impeachment charges, and the President shall be removed if an absolute majority of all the members voted to uphold the impeachment charges.

66. Vacancy in the Office of President

(1) If there is a permanent vacancy in the Office of the President, Parliament shall elect a successor from the same state within 30 days to complete the term of office after compliance with clause 62 (5).

67. The Acting President of the Federal Democratic Republic of Solomon Islands
Whenever the President is temporarily absent from Solomon Islands, or for any other reason unable to perform the functions conferred by this Constitution, or if there is a permanent vacancy in the Office, the full functions of the Office shall be performed by the Speaker of the Federal Parliament and in his absence by the Chief Justice until the incumbent President or the successor of the deceased President assumes office.

(f) infidelity or moral indiscretion by a member and where no amends have been made to such infidelity or moral indiscretion;

(g) such further grounds as may be prescribed by Federal Law.

(3) A Federal law shall provide for the details of recall.

Part III - Rules and Procedures of Parliament

78. Standing Orders

(1) Parliament shall prepare and adopt standing orders that appear best suited to Parliament to conduct its business and proceedings.

(2) Without limiting subsection (1), the standing orders may provide for the following:

(a) the way Parliament must be presided over in the absence of the Speaker or Deputy Speaker;

(b) declaration of interests by members in relation to any matter under consideration by Parliament;

(c) the appointment of committees and the delegation of functions to them;

(d) the appointment of members to committees;

(e) reconsideration of a bill in terms of clause 83;

(f) the orderly conduct of Parliament;

(g) the introduction and passing of bills;

(h) the way its powers, privileges and immunities of members may be exercised and upheld; and

(i) compulsory attendance at all sittings unless leave of absence is granted by the Office of the Speaker;

(j) reprimand of members for conduct falling short of contempt of parliament;

(k) invite non-members of parliament to participate in parliamentary or non-parliamentary proceedings in the public interest when necessary;

(l) other matters Parliament deem appropriate.

(3) A standing order becomes binding and of force on adoption by Parliament.

79. Presiding in Parliament

(1) There shall preside at a sitting of Parliament a:

(a) Speaker;

(b) Deputy Speaker; and

(c) in the absence of Speaker and Deputy Speaker such other member of Parliament it may elect for that purpose.
(2) The Speaker, Deputy Speaker or member elected for that purpose shall enforce standing orders and maintain the discipline of members of Parliament.

80. Committees of Parliament

(1) Committees of Parliament are to be established with the objective to enhance the accountability and transparency of public administration and to extend democratic governance in the Republic.

(2) The functions and areas of responsibility of Committees of Parliament include:
   (a) administrative review reform, and constitutional, electoral and legal reform;
   (b) the ethical conduct of members and parliamentary powers, rights and immunities;
   (c) petitions received by Parliament raising public policy issues within the legislative competency of Parliament;
   (d) the integrity, economy, efficiency and effectiveness of governmental financial management;
   (e) certain works undertaken by or for the government; and
   (f) Parliamentary standing orders.

(3) The main role of a Committee is:
   (a) to deal with issues within its area of responsibility;
   (b) to deal with an issue referred to it by Parliament or under some Act, whether or not the issue is within its area of responsibility; and

(4) A Committee may deal with an issue by:
   (i) considering it; and
   (ii) reporting on it, and making recommendations about it, to Parliament.

(5) A Committee may resolve to:
   (a) call any Minister or any other person holding public office, and private individuals to submit a report on any matter, or to appear before the Committee and give evidence;
   (b) Co-opt any Member of Parliament or employ qualified persons to assist the Committee in the discharge of its functions; and
   (c) has the same powers of the High Court to:
      (i) enforce the attendance of witnesses and examining them on oath, affirmation or otherwise;
      (ii) compel the production of documents; and
      (iii) issue a commission or request to examine witnesses abroad.

81. Procedure of Parliament

(1) Parliament, and any of its Committees is permitted to:
   (a) regulate its own procedure with due regard to participatory democracy, accountability, transparency;
   (b) establish committees or sub-committees for any purpose;
(c) receive petitions, representations or submissions from any interested persons or institution; and
(d) seek the advice and recommendation of the National Finance Council, Congress of States or States on any bill, petition or other matter before Parliament.

(2) The proceedings of Parliament are not invalid by reason only:
   (a) that there is a vacancy in its membership; or
   (b) of the presence or participation of any person not entitled to be present at or to participate in the proceedings of Parliament.

82. Exercise of Legislative Power

(1) The power of Parliament to make laws is to be exercised by bills passed by Parliament with the assent of the President.

(2) Only a Cabinet member or a member or Committee of Parliament may introduce a bill in Parliament; but only the Cabinet member responsible for federal financial matters may introduce an Appropriation Bill.

(3) Laws come into operation in accordance with their terms, and laws may apply retrospectively if the law is stated to have such effect.

83. Assent of Bills

(1) The President may either assent to and sign a bill in terms of this section or if the President has reservations about the constitutionality of a bill, refer it back to Parliament for reconsideration.

(2) If, after reconsideration, a bill accommodates the President’s reservation, the President shall assent and sign the bill; if not the President shall either:
   (a) assent to and sign the bill within thirty (30) days of passage by parliament; or
   (b) refer to the Constitutional Court for an advisory opinion on the constitutionality of the bill.

(3) If the Constitutional Court determines that the bill is constitutional, the President shall assent to and sign it.

(4) All laws passed by Parliament shall as soon as practicable on assent and gazette be distributed to State and Community Governments.

84. Quorum at Meetings of Parliament

(1) The quorum for Parliament is one-half plus one of the total number of members of Parliament.

(2) In the absence of a quorum in the Parliament the person presiding in Parliament shall, in accordance with the standing orders, adjourn the sitting of the Parliament at his or her own motion, or upon the motion of any member.

85. Voting in Parliament
(1) Unless otherwise provided in this Constitution, any question proposed for decision in Parliament is to be determined by a majority of the votes of the members present and voting in Parliament.

(2) On a question proposed for decision, the Deputy Speaker or any other member of parliament presiding in Parliament shall have a casting vote in the event of a tie of votes.

Part IV - Term, Sessions, Meetings and Sittings of Parliament

86. Term of Parliament

(1) Every Parliament shall be for a term of four years from the first day of the first meeting of Parliament and no longer, but may be sooner dissolved by the President.

(2) After any general election of Parliament, Parliament shall meet within 4 weeks after the last day of polling.

(4) Each session of Parliament shall commence at such place and time as the President may appoint.

(4) Sessions of Parliament shall be held so that a period of twelve months does not intervene between the end of one session and the first sitting of Parliament in the next session.

(5) Parliament shall meet at least three times a year.

87. Dissolution of Parliament

(1) The President shall dissolve Parliament if:
   (a) by an absolute majority Parliament so decides;
   (b) a Government is not formed having the confidence of Parliament in the circumstances contemplated in clause 95 (3) or
   (c) an alternative Prime Minister fails to get the confidence of Parliament in the circumstances contemplated in clause 99 (4).

(2) If, after dissolution of Parliament and before holding of the general election, some matter of urgent national importance arises that necessitates recalling Parliament, the President shall summon the Parliament that has been dissolved to meet prior to holding of the general election.

(3) For the purposes of sub-clause (2), the persons who were members of Parliament immediately before the dissolution shall be deemed still members of Parliament, but, subject to Clause 89, of this Constitution (which relates to the election of the Speaker) Parliament shall not, when summoned transact any business other than debating and if need be to vote upon a resolution in relation to the matter for which Parliament was summoned.
88. General Elections

(1) A general election for Parliament shall be held, on a date determined by the President, acting on the advice of the Prime Minister within four months of the dissolution of Parliament.

(2) Where the seat of a Member of Parliament falls vacant otherwise than by reason of dissolution of Parliament, a by-election shall be held to fill the vacancy within ninety days of the occurrence of the vacancy, unless Parliament is sooner dissolved.

Part V - The Speaker and other Officers of Parliament

89. Speaker and Deputy Speaker

(1) When Parliament first meets after any general election and before it considers any other business, it shall elect;

(a) a Speaker from members of the public who are eligible for election as a member of the Federal Parliament under Clauses 74 and 75; and

(b) Deputy Speaker from among its members

(2) At the first meeting of the Parliament after each general election, the incumbent Speaker shall preside over the meeting of the Parliament until a new Speaker is elected in accordance with this section

(3) No business shall be transacted in Parliament (other than the election of a Speaker or Deputy Speaker) at any time when the office of the Speaker or Deputy Speaker is vacant.

(4) In terms of standing orders, Parliament may elect from among its members other presiding officers to assist the Speaker and the Deputy Speaker.

(5) No Minister or leader of a political party may be Speaker or Deputy Speaker.

(6) The office of the Speaker and Deputy Speaker shall become vacant-

(a) when Parliament first meets after any dissolution; or

(b) if any circumstances arise that would cause him or her to be disqualified from election as a member of Parliament; or

(c) upon becoming a Minister; or

(d) upon becoming a leader of a political party; or

(e) by resigning from office by written notice to that effect addressed to the Parliament and received by the Clerk; or

(f) if Parliament resolves by a resolution supported by the votes of not less than two-thirds of all its members to remove the Speaker or Deputy Speaker from office; or

(g) in the case of the Deputy Speaker, upon election as Speaker.
(7) Unless otherwise provided in this Constitution or any other law, the Speaker and the Deputy Speaker shall not hold any other public office.

90. Leader of the Alternative Government

(1) At the first meeting of Parliament after each election, and as otherwise required when a vacancy arises, the President, acting in accordance with the advice of the Speaker, may appoint as Leader of the Alternative Government:

   (a) a member of Parliament who is best able to command the support of the largest political party or coalition of parties in Parliament who do not support the Government; or

   (b) if there is no such person, the member of Parliament, who commands the support of the largest single group of such members who are prepared to support one leader.

(2) The office of the Leader of the Alternative Government shall become vacant if:

   (a) he or she resigns from office by giving written notice to that effect to the Speaker;

   (b) removed from office, or becomes disqualified from holding the office of a Member of Parliament in accordance with this Constitution;

   (c) he or she becomes the Speaker or Deputy Speaker.

(3) The Leader of the Alternative Government shall have-

   (a) official status immediately following the President and the Prime Minister; and

   (b) the right of participation at all official state functions.

(4) Standing Orders shall make provision for the effective participation in Parliament of the Leader of the Alternative Government.

91. Clerk of Parliament

(1) At least two months before the commencement of each financial year, the Minister for Finance shall lay before Parliament estimates of the revenues and of capital and recurrent expenditure of Parliament for that year.

(2) If Parliament is dissolved and it is impossible to lay estimates before Parliament before the end of the financial year, the estimates shall be laid before Parliament within thirty days after the Parliament first meets following the dissolution.
(3) The Public Accounts Committee shall be given reasonable time to study estimates of revenue before such estimates is presented to Parliament.

124. Appropriation Bills

(1) When Parliament has approved expenditure for any financial year, other than expenditure that is specifically charged on the Consolidated Fund by this Constitution or law, a bill to be known as an Appropriation Bill shall be introduced into Parliament, and that bill shall

(a) provide for money to be issued from the Consolidated Fund to meet the approved expenditure; and

(b) appropriate the money to the purposes specified in the estimates under special votes for the different heads of expenditure that have been approved.

(2) The Public Accounts Committee shall be given reasonable time to study any proposed Appropriation Bill before such a bill is presented to Parliament.

125. Additional or Supplementary Appropriations

(1) In any financial year, Supplementary Appropriation Bills may make provision for additional expenditure where the original estimates were insufficient, or if authorization is needed for any expenditure not previously included in the estimates.

(2) If Parliament approves additional or supplementary estimates, an additional or supplementary Appropriation Bill shall be introduced into Parliament, providing for the necessary money to be issued from the Consolidated Fund to meet the expenditure concerned and appropriating the money to the purposes specified in the estimates, under separate votes for the different heads of expenditure that have been approved.

(3) The Public Accounts Committee shall be given reasonable time to study any proposed Supplementary Appropriation Bill before such a bill is presented to Parliament.

126. Authorization in Advance of Appropriation

(1) If the Appropriation Act has not come into operation by the beginning of the financial year to which it relates, Parliament may resolve to authorize the issue of moneys from the Consolidated Fund to meet expenditure for the provision of the services of Government at a level not exceeding the level of those services in the previous financial year.

(2) Any such authorization under the preceding sub-clause may only apply for a period of 3 months from the commencement of the financial year.

127. Warrants for Unforeseen Expenditure -

If it appears to a Minister responsible for finance that–

(a) there is an urgent and unforeseen need to incur expenditure; and
(b) no provision exists for that expenditure in any appropriation law or other law; and

(c) the expenditure is consistent with an applicable law; and

(d) Parliament has made a prior determination of the maximum amount of expenditure that may be approved in this manner, and the amount to be authorised is consistent with that determination; and

(e) the expenditure is approved by Cabinet - the Minister may, by special warrant, authorise the issue from the Consolidated Fund money to meet that expenditure and shall include such amount in a Supplementary Appropriation Bill for appropriation at the first sitting of Parliament following the date on which the warrant was issued.

128. Delay in Appropriation due to Dissolution of Parliament -

Where at any time Parliament has been dissolved before any provision, or sufficient provision, is made for funding the services of Government, the Minister responsible for finance may issue for the payment out of the Consolidated Fund of moneys necessary for the continuance of those services if—

(a) the authorisation is stated to cease to have effect no later than 3 months commencing on the date on which Parliament first meets after the dissolution;

(b) statements of the sums so authorised are laid before Parliament as soon as is practicable; and

(c) shall be included in an Appropriation Act under separate votes for the different heads of expenditure.

129. Excess or Unauthorised Expenditure -

(1) If it is found that more money has been expended on a purpose than was appropriated to it under this Part, or that money has been expended on a purpose for which no money was appropriated under this Part, the Minister responsible for finance shall without delay introduce a bill into Parliament condoning the unauthorised expenditure;

(2) The Public Accounts Committee shall be given reasonable time to study any proposed appropriation bill authorising expenditure before such a bill is presented to Parliament.

plan of development, reform, loan or project on the environment; and
   (iv) in the case of affected village and other communities to take all appropriate measures to be fully informed of the political, social, cultural and economic impact such activities will have on those communities; and
   (v) shall ensure that any plan of development, reform, loan or project is environmentally sustainable and politically, socially, economically and culturally sustainable from the perspective of affected village and other communities.

(2) The implementation of any development plan, reform, or development project shall provide for mechanisms for the monitoring of effects on the environment and affected village and other communities in terms of sustainability set out in sub clause (1).

(3) Affected village and other communities have a right to full, fair, adequate and effective participation in any development plan, reform and development project and a right to be fully informed of the conditions or policies to be implemented on the acceptance of a development loan or grant and all other relevant matters and to be informed of the findings of any impact assessment in terms of sub clause (2).

180. Free Trade Arrangements

(1) Before agreeing to accede to any free trade arrangement, the Federal Government shall undertake an empirically based study of the economic, social, cultural, environmental, democratic and constitutional implications of free trade commitments on the Constitution, State Constitutions, subsistence and local economies, rural and other communities particularly rural women, food, manufacturing, natural resources, services, labor markets, investment and cultural knowledge and other relevant matters;

(2) A study under sub clause (1) shall be conducted locally and the findings released

(2) The courts are independent and subject only to the Constitution and law, which they shall apply impartially and without fear, favour or prejudice.

(3) Governments and organs of government, through legislative and other measures shall –

   (a) assist and protect the courts to ensure the courts’ independence, impartiality, accessibility and effectiveness; and

   (b) take all necessary measures to ensure that the courts are adequately financed and resourced.

(4) No person or organ of any government may interfere with the functioning of the courts.

(5) A judgement, decision and or order(s) issued by a court binds all persons to whom and organs of government to which it applies.

Part II - The Superior Courts

183. The Superior Courts of Solomon Islands

(1) The superior courts of Solomon Islands shall be –

   (a) Constitutional Court;

   (b) Court of Appeal; and

   (c) High Court.

(2) The Court of Appeal and High Court has the jurisdiction, including inherent jurisdiction, conferred on it immediately before the commencement of this Constitution and any further jurisdiction conferred on it by this Constitution or by law.

(3) Nothing in this Chapter affects the continuance of a person in office as a judge under an appointment made before the commencement of this Constitution.
184. The Constitutional Court

(1) There shall be a Constitutional Court for Solomon Islands, which shall be the highest court in all constitutional matters as conferred by this Constitution or by law;

(2) The Constitutional Court shall consist of:
   (a) the Chief Justice, who is to be President of the Constitutional Court;
   (b) such other judges as are appointed as Justices of the Constitutional Court; and
   (c) the Justices of Appeal.

(3) The President of the Constitutional Court and other Justices of the Constitutional Court are appointed by the President, acting in accordance with the advice of the Judicial and Legal Services Commission.

(4) A matter before the Constitutional Court shall be heard by at least 3 judges.

(5) The Constitutional Court has, in addition to powers conferred by this Constitution, exclusive jurisdiction, subject to such requirements as Parliament prescribes, to hear and determine:
   (a) appeals from all final judgments of the Court of Appeal concerning any matter arising under this Constitution or a State Constitution including its interpretation;
   (b) disputes between organs of government in the federal or state sphere concerning the constitutional status, powers or functions of any of those organs;
   (c) the constitutionality of any bill of the Federal Parliament or State legislature;
   (d) the constitutionality of any amendment to this Constitution or any State Constitution;
   (e) any dispute or matter concerning the obligations of the President or a Head of a State.

(6) An appeal may not be brought from a final judgment of the Court of Appeal unless:
   (a) the Court of Appeal gives leave to appeal on a question certified by it to be of significant public importance; or
   (b) the Constitutional Court gives special leave to appeal.

(7) In the exercise of its appellate jurisdiction, the Constitutional Court has power to review, vary, set aside or affirm decisions or orders of the Court of Appeal and may make such orders (including an order for a new trial and an order for award of costs) as are necessary for the administration of justice.

(8) The Constitutional Court may review any judgment, pronouncement or order made by it.

185. The Court of Appeal

(1) The Court of Appeal shall consist of:
   (a) a judge, other than the Chief Justice, who is appointed as President of the Court of Appeal; and
(b) such other judges as are appointed as Justices of Appeal.

(2) The President of the Court of Appeal and the other Justices of Appeal are appointed by the President of the Republic, acting in accordance with the advice of the Judicial and Legal Services Commission.

(3) The Court of Appeal has jurisdiction, subject to this Constitution and to such requirements as prescribed by Parliament, to hear and determine appeals from all judgments of the High Court, and has such other jurisdiction as is conferred by law.

(4) Parliament may provide that appeals lie to the Court of Appeal, as of right or with leave, from other judgments of the High Court in accordance with such requirements as the Parliament prescribes.

186. The High Court

(1) The High Court shall consist of:
   (a) the Chief Justice; and
   (b) such numbers of other judges as Parliament may prescribe.

(2) The Parliament may make provision for the appointment of Registrars or Commissioners of the High Court and may prescribe their jurisdiction and powers.

(3) The Chief Justice and the other Justices of the High Court are appointed by the President of the Republic, acting in accordance with the advice of the Judicial and Legal Service Commission.

(4) The High Court has unlimited original jurisdiction to hear and determine any civil or criminal proceedings under law and such other original jurisdiction as is conferred on it under this Constitution.

(5) Subject to the exclusive jurisdiction of the Constitutional Court, the High Court has further original jurisdiction in any matter arising under this Constitution or a State and Community Constitution including its interpretation.

(6) The High Court has further jurisdiction, subject to the conferral by Parliament of rights of appeal and to such requirements as the Parliament prescribes, to hear and determine appeals from all judgments of subordinate courts.

(7) If in any proceedings in a subordinate court any question arises as to the interpretation of this Constitution or a State or Community Constitution and the member presiding in the proceedings considers that a substantial question of law is involved, the member presiding shall refer the question to the High Court.

(8) When the High Court gives its decision on a question referred to it under sub clause (6), the subordinate Court in which the question arose shall dispose of the case in accordance with:
   (a) the decision; or
   (b) if the decision is the subject of appeal to the Court of Appeal or to the Constitutional Court, the decision of the Court of Appeal or Constitutional Court, as the case may be.
(9) The High Court has jurisdiction to supervise any civil or criminal proceedings before a subordinate court and may, on an application duly made to it, make such orders, issue such writs and give such directions as it considers appropriate to ensure that justice is duly administered by the subordinate court.

187. Advisory Jurisdiction

(1) The High Court has, on the application of an authority or person referred to in sub clause (2), jurisdiction to give its opinion on any constitutional matter including the validity of any proposed law or enacted law.

(2) The following are entitled to make application under sub clause (1):

(a) The President of the Republic;
(b) Any elected Member of the Federal Parliament;
(c) Speaker of the Federal Parliament;
(c) The Federal Attorney-General;
(d) Any institution or commission established under this Constitution;
(e) Any State Governor;

(i) Any institution or commission established under each State Constitution;
(j) Chairperson of each Community Government;
(k) Any institution or commission established under each Community Constitution;
(l) Any aggrieved citizen or executive member of the civil society.

(3) The High Court shall have power to dismiss any application under this clause if found to be frivolous, vexatious, or the application discloses no reasonable cause of action or is an abuse of the courts process;

(4) The Rules of Court of the High Court may make provision in respect of matters relating to the jurisdiction of the High Court under this clause.

188. Powers of Courts in Constitutional Matters – When deciding a constitutional matter a court:

(a) shall declare that any law or conduct that is inconsistent with the constitution is invalid to the extent of the inconsistency; and
(b) may make an order that is just and equitable, including –

(i) an order limiting the retrospective effect of the declaration of invalidity;
(ii) an order suspending the declaration of invalidity for any period and on any conditions, to allow the competent authority to correct the defect;
(iii) such orders or give such directions as it considers appropriate including the award of compensation; and
(iv) normal orders of judicial review.

189. Disqualification of Judge – A judge who has sat in a trial of a matter that is the subject of appeal to a higher court shall not sit in the appeal.

190. Inherent Powers – The superior courts shall have inherent power to protect and regulate their own process.

Part III - Court Procedure

191. The Rules of Court

   (1) The Rules of Court applying to the procedures of the superior courts shall be made by a Rules Committee consisting of the –

   (a) Chief Justice;
   (b) President of the Court of Appeal;
   (c) Attorney General; and
   (d) President of Solomon Islands Bar Association; and
   (e) Such other persons as the President of the Republic, acting after consultation with the Chief Justice, may appoint.

   (2) The Rules Committee may make rules, not inconsistent with this Constitution or a law made by the Parliament, for regulating and prescribing the practice and procedure to be followed in the superior courts.

Part IV: Tenure and other matters

192. Qualification for Appointment

   (1) A person shall not be qualified for appointment as a judge unless he or she

   (a) holds or has held high judicial office in Solomon Islands or in any country prescribed by Parliament; or
   (b) has had not less than 5 years practice as a barrister or solicitor in Solomon Islands or in another country prescribed by Parliament.

   (2) The Chief Justice shall be appointed by the President of the Republic acting in accordance with the advice of Judicial and Legal Services Commission.

   (3) If the office of Chief Justice or judge is vacant, or if the person holding such office is for any reason unable to perform the functions of office, the President of the Republic acting in accordance with the advice of the Judicial and Legal Services Commission may either appoint -

   (a) another Judge, or any person qualified to be a Judge under this section, to act as Chief Justice; or
   (b) a person qualified to be a Judge under this clause, to act as a judge of the High Court,

193. Criteria for Appointment of Judicial Officers –
The making of appointments to judicial office is governed by the principle that judges should be of the highest quality.

194. Tenure of Judges

(1) The term of appointment of the Chief Justice, a Justice of Appeal, a Justice of the Constitutional Court (including the President of the Court of Appeal) or a judge of the High Court expires upon his or her reaching the age of 70.

(2) A retired judge may be appointed as an acting judge for a fixed term after he or she has reached retirement age.

(3) Nothing done by a judge shall be invalid by reason only that the retirement age has been reached.

(4) Sub-clause 3 shall not apply in the event of the removal of a judge from office.

195. Removal of Judge for cause.

(1) A judge may be removed from office for inability to perform the functions of his or her office (whether arising from infirmity of body or mind or any other cause) or for misbehaviour, and may not otherwise be removed.

(2) Removal of a judge from office must be by the President of the Republic pursuant to sub-clause (3).

(3) If the President of the Republic considers that the question of removing a judge from office ought to be investigated, then:

(a) the President of the Republic appoints:

   (i) in the case of alleged misbehaviour—a tribunal, consisting of a chairperson and not less than 2 other members, selected by the President from among persons who hold or have held high judicial office in Solomon Islands or in another Commonwealth country.

   (ii) in the case of alleged inability to perform the functions or office, a medical board, consisting of a chairperson and 2 other members, each of whom is a qualified medical practitioner;

(b) the tribunal or medical board enquires into the matter and furnishes a written report of the facts to the President of the Republic and advises him or her whether or not the judge should be removed from office; and

(c) if the tribunal or medical board advises that the judge should be removed from office, the President of the Republic may remove the judge from office.

(4) If the question of removing a judge from office has been referred to a tribunal or medical board under sub-clause (3), the President of the Republic may suspend the judge from office and may, at any time, revoke that suspension.
(5) The suspension of the judge from office ceases to have effect if the tribunal or medical board advises the President of the Republic that the judge should not be removed from office.

196. Oath of office – Before any judge and any judicial officer begin to perform their functions, they shall take an oath of allegiance, in accordance with Schedule Two, that they will uphold and protect this Constitution.

197. The Judicial and Legal Services Commission

(1) There shall be established a Judicial and Legal Services Commission and shall consist of:
   (a) Chief Justice, who is the Chairperson;
   (b) Federal Attorney-General;
   (c) Chairperson of the Public Services Commission;
   (d) the person who is from time to time the President of Solomon Islands Bar Association; and
   (e) two other members appointed by the President of the Republic, acting on the advice of the Federal Public Service Commission.

(3) The Judicial Legal Service Commission shall have power to make appointments to the offices to which this clause applies (including the power to confirm appointments) and to remove and to exercise disciplinary control over persons holding or acting in such offices.

(4) This clause applies to:

   (a) all public offices for which a legal qualification is required except those of the Federal Attorney General, the judges of the High Court, Court of Appeal and the Constitutional Court, the Public Solicitor, the Director of Public Prosecutions, the Chair person of the Human Rights Commission, the Federal Electoral Commission and the Leadership and Anti-Corruption Commission;

   (b) Magistrates engaged in full time judicial and related duties; and

   (c) such other judicial officers including Registrars of the High Court, the Court of Appeal and the Constitutional Court.

(5) In addition to the functions conferred on it elsewhere in this Constitution, the Judicial and Legal Services Commission may investigate complaints against legal officers, judges and judicial officers of the courts subordinate to the High Court, Court of Appeal and the Constitutional Court and may take disciplinary action against them.

(6) Before members of the Commission begin to perform their functions, they shall take an oath of allegiance, in accordance with Schedule Two, to uphold and protect this Constitution.

CHAPTER TWENTY: PREROGATIVE OF MERCY
Part I - Powers of the President

198. Federal Powers of Pardon

(1) There shall be a Prerogative of Mercy Committee, which shall comprise of—

(a) a Chairperson and two other persons, one of whom shall be a qualified medical practitioner and the other shall be a social worker, appointed by the President in his own deliberate judgment; and

(b) one person chosen from a list of nominated members submitted by each State Government, to consider a matter involving an ordinary resident of the State of that member.

(Note: The next Plenary to consider additional members from churches and traditional leadership)

(2) A member of the Committee shall hold office at the pleasure of the President.

(3) Before members of the Committee begin to perform their function, they shall take an oath of allegiance, in accordance with Schedule Two, that they will uphold and protect the Constitution.

(4) The President, acting on the advice of the Prerogative of Mercy Committee, may:

(a) grant a pardon to any person convicted of any offence under any law in Solomon Islands, as either a free pardon or subject to lawful conditions;

(b) grant to any person a respite, either indefinite or for a specified period, of the execution of any punishment imposed on that person for any offence;

(c) substitute a less severe form of punishment imposed on any person for any offence; or

(d) remit the whole or any part of a punishment imposed on any person for any offence, or any penalty, forfeiture or other order imposed as a consequence of the conviction for an offence.

Part II - Exercise of State Powers

199. State Powers of Pardon

(1) The State Governor of each state shall exercise powers similar to those vested in the President under Part I, in accordance with the provisions of a State Constitution or a State law.

(2) The State power of pardon shall only apply to a person who has been convicted in State Court of an offence committed in that State.

(3) The State Constitution or State law granting powers referred to in sub-clause (1) shall make provision for the appointment of a State Prerogative of Mercy Committee and the power to grant a pardon may only be exercised in accordance with the advice of that Committee.
200. Limitation of Exercise of Power of Pardon

Neither the President nor the State Governor shall exercise any power in Clause 198 (4) or clause 199 (3) respectively in respect of any offence arising under Clause 14.

201. Power to Grant Pardon Vests exclusively in the President or the State Governor

The power to grant a pardon, respite, revision and reprimand or a lesser form of punishment than that imposed shall be vested exclusively in the President or the State Governor as the case may be.

CHAPTER TWENTY ONE: REPRESENTATION OF THE PEOPLE

Part I - Electoral Arrangements

202. General Principles

(1) Electoral systems for any government under this Constitution shall be based on the following fundamental principles:

(a) the right of all Solomon Islands citizens to vote and to stand for free and fair elections at Federal, States and Community governments;
(b) voting shall be by secret ballot and for voting records to be kept secret;
(c) elections shall be free and fair and where the influence of the elector’s vote is based on political programmes rather than on personal or non-political related criteria;
(d) elections shall ensure where practicable fair representation of Solomon Islands communities and gender;
(e) elections shall be by preferential voting system; and
(f) elections shall be conducted by an independent body free from political interference.

(3) In all elections:

(a) a person who has attained 18 years of age shall have the right to be registered to vote;
(b) the administrative arrangements for the registration of voters and the conduct of elections shall not deny a person’s right to vote and stand for election; and
(c) as far as is practicable, there shall be a system of continuous registration.

203. Disqualification from Registration

A citizen is not qualified to be registered as a voter:

(a) in more than one Region; (Note: subjects to decision on 72(3))
(b) if medically certified to be of poor mental health or of unsound mind under a federal law;
(c) if disqualified from registration as an elector or from voting at elections under a federal law.
204. Voting Procedures

(1) The Electoral Commission shall be responsible for ensuring that

(a) voting procedure is simple and precise;

(b) voters are given an opportunity to cast their votes in secret and free from the undue influence or intimidation of others;

(c) ballot boxes are kept secure and that this is capable of verification;

(d) votes are counted and recorded; and

(e) the results of those elections are declared within a period prescribed by applicable laws which shall be as short as reasonably possible.

(2) If a State Government does not make provision for any aspect of the conduct of elections for the State legislature, the Federal law applying to the elections to the Federal Parliament will apply, with any necessary modification.

(3) The right to vote in an election for a State legislature is restricted to persons entitled to vote in elections for the Federal Parliament.

205. Federal Boundaries Commission

(1) There shall be established a Federal Boundaries Commission.

(2) The Federal Boundaries Commission shall be made up of:

(a) a Chairperson and two other members (in this clause referred to as “the appointed members”) appointed by the President acting in accordance with the advice of the Judicial and Legal Services Commission; and

(b) the persons for the time being holding the offices of the Federal Surveyor General and the Federal Government Statistician who shall be members ex-officio.

(3) The Federal Boundaries Commission shall as soon as practicable after the commencement of this Constitution review the number and boundaries of seats in the Federal Parliament so as to ensure that such boundaries are consistent with this Constitution.

(4) The Federal Boundaries Commission may review the number and boundaries of the seats whenever it considers it desirable, and may make recommendations to the Federal Parliament for alterations in the number and boundaries of the seats by necessary amendment to clause 68.

(5) The Federal Parliament may approve or reject the recommendations of the Federal Boundaries Commission but shall not vary them; and if so approved, the recommendation shall have effect as from the next dismissal of the Federal Parliament.

(6) When conducting a review under this section, the Federal Boundaries Commission shall:

(a) consult with each State and Community Government, Honiara City and other interested parties;
(b) to ensure that the boundaries of a seat do not overlap into the boundaries of another regional seat; (Refer to 203 (a))

(c) the Federal Boundaries Commission may depart from the principle in sub clause (b) to the extent as they consider expedient in order to take account of:
   (i) clan/tribal affiliations;
   (ii) representation of minority ethnic groups;
   (iii) population density, distribution and movement;
   (iv) means of communication; and
   (v) geographical features.

Part II - Political Parties

206. The Right to Form a Political Party

(1) Notwithstanding the freedom of assembly and association in clause 38, there shall be in the Republic not less than three (3) and not more than seven (7) political parties.

(2) Any person may, by lawful association form a political party.

(3) No person, group or authority shall represent itself as a political party unless registered as a political party under this part.

(4) A political party is entitled to financial support from the Republic on the basis prescribed by a federal law.

(5) No person may use public resources to promote the interests of a political party.

   (Note: The next Plenary to reconsider whether or not political parties should be funded by the Republic)

207. Registration of Political Parties

(1) All political parties shall be registered according to the requirements of a federal law which may include inter alia:

   (a) national level of party membership;
   (b) nature of recruitment and threshold;
   (c) community reception;
   (d) national coverage and scope; and
   (e) fair ethnic and State representation.

(2) The Electoral Commission is the registrar and regulator of political parties and for that purpose shall keep and maintain a register of political parties.

(3) The Federal Parliament shall enact a law providing for the registration, regulation and funding of political parties participating in Federal and State legislatures.
208. Qualifications for Registration

(1) The essential qualifications for registration of a political party are that by its constitution or rules the political party has a federal or state character, which seeks to

(a) promote and uphold the union of the Republic;
(b) practice democracy within the party through regular, fair and free elections;
(c) be transparent and accountable to its members and regulatory authorities;
(d) promote and respect Rights and Freedoms of the individual and gender equality; and
(e) promote and uphold this Constitution and the rule of law.

(2) A political party is not eligible for registration if that party is founded purely on religious, linguistic, racial, ethnic, corporatist basis or seeks to engage in propaganda based on any of those matters.

(3) A political party shall not engage in corrupt practices or encourage violence or intimidation of its members, supporters or opponents or any other persons.

(4) A political party shall keep proper accounts, and proper books and records of account in the form approved by the Auditor General.

(5) Within three months after the end of its financial year, a political party shall submit its accounts and books and records of account to the Auditor General for audit.

(6) A political party shall comply with all requests of the Auditor General in a timely manner and disclose and produce to the Auditor General any document, record, financial statement and any other information or document should the Auditor General so request.

(7) The Auditor General shall within three months of the submission under sub clause (5), audit the accounts and to submit the report on the audit to the political party.

(8) The political party shall within one month of the receipt of the report of the Auditor General publish its accounts in the Gazette and in the local print media.

209. Cancellation of Registration

The registration of a political party shall be cancelled if the political party:

(a) is in breach of or has not complied with a matter listed in clause 208 or law;
(b) obtained its registration in a fraudulent or corrupt manner;
(c) falsifies or misrepresents its records or accounts;
(d) willfully fails to abide with requests, co-operate or intimidate the Auditor General in carrying out his or her duties under this Part; or
(e) instigated or connived in the commission of an election offence.

210. Party Discipline

(1) The rules of a political party shall contain provisions that ensure internal discipline including rules to vote in accordance with the party position, the discipline of party members in breach of party rules, adherence to the Constitution, standing orders or rules of a State legislature.

(2) A political party shall not punish a Member of Parliament who is a member of the party for anything said in Parliament by the member in exercise of the privileges of freedom of speech.

(3) A member of any legislature who resigns from the political party that sponsored the member’s election or leaves the political party to join another or remains in office as an independent loses his or her seat.

211. Restrictions on Holding of Office in Political Parties

The President of the Republic and public officials shall not hold office in a political party.

212. Deregistered Political Parties

(1) In the event of a political party being deregistered, the members of the deregistered party shall remain as members of the Federal Parliament until the next election.

(2) Members of the deregistered party shall be barred from joining other political parties within the life of the current Parliament.

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO: THE PUBLIC ADMINISTRATION

Part I – Principles Governing Federal, State and Community Governments Public Administration

213 Purpose and Functions of the Public Service

REVENUE SHARING FORMULA

PART I - Natural Resource Revenues

[Clauses 156]

1. The revenue sharing ratios for all natural resources referred to in clause 156 of this Constitution inclusive of forestry, mining, petroleum, gas, agricultural products (CEMA products), marine and fisheries (non migratory), air space and other natural resources shall be as follows:

   (a) Federal Government – 30%;
   (b) State and Community Governments and Resource Owners – 70%.

2. The 70% referred to in paragraph (1) shall be apportioned to the State and Community Governments and Resource Owners in accordance with a sharing ratio to be stipulated in each State Constitution. A portion of the share of the Resource Owners shall be set aside for social, economic, educational, environmental and rehabilitation needs to be administered in accordance with the State and Community Governments legislations.

3. No remission of export duties shall be granted in respect of any logs harvested unless the relevant State legislature (in consultation with the Community Government) and the Federal legislature have endorsed the granting of the remission prior to it being made.

4. Any remission granted that is not in compliance with paragraph 3 shall be void and of no effect.

5. All current remissions of export duties on log exports shall cease 6 months after the date of commencement of this Constitution, unless they have been ratified by the Federal Legislature and the relevant State legislature.

6. In respect of all Federal revenues derived from duties paid in relation to the export of migratory fish and any fees paid for fishing rights to migratory fish is to be determined by a calculation based upon the respective areas of sea within the boundaries of a State as defined in Schedule Four.

PART II - Federal Tax Revenues

[Clauses 157]

1. The sharing ratio –

   (1) The sharing ratio of revenues referred to in Clause 157 of this Constitution shall be 50% to the Federal Government, and 50% to be shared by the State Governments in accordance with the formula set out in paragraph 2.

   (2) The State share of revenue is to be apportioned according to the following formula –

   (a) 20% of the available funds shall be distributed on an equal basis to each State;
(b) 50% of the available funds shall be distributed on the basis of the population of each State, as taken from the most recent census; and
(c) 30% of the available funds shall be distributed on the basis of the land (using the archipelagic baselines principle) and sea area of each State.

PART III - Review and Amendment

Review and amendment of the sharing ratio

(Clause 158)

(1) Subject to paragraph 8, the Federal Parliament may review and amend the sharing ratios in Parts I and II of this schedule by a Constitutional amendment.

(2) Any changes to the formula shall only come into effect on the:
   (a) recommendation of the National Finance Commission;
   (b) enactment by the Federal Parliament of a Constitutional amendment to that effect;
   and
   (c) subsequent endorsement of the Constitutional amendment by an absolute majority of State legislatures.

(3) The Constitutional amendment to change the sharing formula shall not be submitted to the President for assent unless it has the endorsement of an absolute majority of State legislatures.
STATE CONSTITUTIONS
[Clause 135 (2)]

(Note: Plenary to take clear position whether or not Community Governments should have separate Constitutions or be part of State’ Constitution.)

1. Preparation

(1) Existing Provincial Assemblies are responsible in overseeing the preparation of their State and Community Constitutions and shall do so through a body appointed by it.

(2) Clans, tribes, village and church communities and all persons of the province have a right to participate in the creation of a State Constitution and to be consulted.

(3) Community consultations must be undertaken in good faith with the objective of achieving, through procedure determined by them, substantial agreement or consent to a draft constitution.

(4) For the purposes of this paragraph an “existing Provincial Assembly” shall be each of the Provincial Assemblies established under the Provincial Government Act 1997, in place immediately as at the commencement of this Constitution.
